

DAS News Brief

In the presence of the school's founder, Sheikh Khalid Al-Turki, and president, Dr. Sally Al-Turki, the Alumni Council organized the annual alumni gathering to strengthen ties between graduates and the school.

Our schools organized a ceremony to honor high school students who excelled in the General Aptitude Test (Qudrat) attended by their parents.

Among 130,000 participants from 100 countries, students Nawaf Al-Qadhi and Abdulaziz Zarei won silver medals at the International Artificial Intelligence Competition.

As part of purposeful educational programs, the schools organized a trip that explores the life of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) for first-year secondary students.

As part of the cultural programs, activities celebrating World Arabic Language Day were held for elementary-level students.

A “Cardboard Tower Building” activity was conducted for tenth-grade students to promote strategic thinking and teamwork.

The elementary Spelling Bee competition concluded, aiming to enhance students’ spelling skills and promote positive competition.

DAS hosted a team from Johns Hopkins Hospital in an awareness event for ninth-grade students on the dangers of smoking.

As part of enrichment programs, our students attended Chinese performances at Ithra, where they explored Chinese culture and arts.

The elementary students’ running race kicked off in an atmosphere of excitement and competition, aiming to promote fitness and teamwork among the students.

In collaboration with the Society of Petroleum Engineers, the schools hosted alumnus Khalid Al-Mojil, who gave a lecture on “The Future of Energy.”

Final Exam Preparation Steps

- Organize your time with a clear study schedule to cover all subjects.
- Start early and avoid last-minute studying.